Illustrated List of Decimal Machins

Summer Edition

Edited by Roy Gault.

Queen Elizabeth II - Small, Definitive Sized Decimal Machins.

The new, small sized decimal Machin stamps were introduced progressively from 'D-day' itself, 15th February 1971. Introductory dates for the basic stamps are shown above each illustration. Note that no account has been taken of the number of phosphor bands, only the major colour changes and change in physical size and shape of the stamp value (e.g. 2p, 3½p, 5p, etc), producing a gallery of 99 stamps. The ½p was demonetized in December 1984.

The number of different Perfin dies recorded for each type is shown to the right of the stamp designation code (e.g. 3, 3a, 5, 5a, 5b, etc) allocated by Barrie Williamson. A list of the Perfin Dies and values involved follows this introduction.

A glance at the figures shows that the humble 1p Decimal Machin has the greatest number of different Perfin dies associated with it at 632. At the other end of the scale, there are many values where less than ten Perfin dies have been reported, and there are four with none at all!

25p Rose-red (25a), 26p Drab (26a), 27p Chestnut (27), and 31p Ultramarine (31a).

If you have an example of any of these four stamps with a Perfin, please let the Catalogue Editor know (contacts as per the Perfin Society Website).

The figures for the number of G.B. Perfin dies found on the small format
Decimal Machin issue, some 918 DD and 12,309 DDF, is correct to 1st July 2019.

MACHIN COLOUR CHECKLIST

with Catalogue Nos from SG Concise.

Note!

The following codes have been allocated by Barrie Williamson in his Machin study for the small format, decimal definitives. No account has been taken of the various phosphor bands involved, differences in paper, and printers. Only the major colour changes have been taken into account. The code is produced by dropping the ‘p’ from the value for the original issue, followed by the suffix ‘a’ for the first variation, and ‘b’ for the second.

Queen Elizabeth II - Large Format, High Value Decimal Machins.

The precedent for using large format stamps for high value stamps first started in 1867 with the issues of Queen Victoria, a tradition which was to continue for more than a century. The purchasing power of the money needed to buy a 5/- postage stamp in the mid-Victorian era (say c1870) probably represented a weeks pay for a domestic servant or manual worker. By the 1970's this would be equivalent to perhaps only an hours pay for a similar category of worker, and today, for someone on the minimum wage, less than 3 minutes. How times have changed!

The first of the Decimal Machins were the replacements for the large format, high value Sterling Machins 2/6d, 5/-, 10/-, and £1, by their decimal counterparts 10p, 20p, 50p, and £1. The 10p, 20p, and 50p values were introduced on the 17th June 1970, and the re-drawn £1 on the 6th December 1972. Decimalization ('D-day') itself was on the 15th February 1971.

The 10p Cerise was replaced early on by a small sized stamp, the 10p Orange-brown & chestnut, introduced on 15th February 1971. The 20p Olive-green gave way to the 20p dull purple on 25th February 1976, the 50p Ultramarine to the 50p Ochre-brown on 2nd February 1977, and the £1 to the large format £1 Green & olive, also on the 2nd February 1977.

Issued at the same time as the large, vertical format £1 Green and Olive on 2nd February 1977, came two new values, the £2 Green and brown, and the £5 Pink and blue.

The remaining five values in the series, £1.30, £1.33, £1.41, £1.50, and £1.60, were introduced progressively on 3rd August 1983, 28th August 1984, 17th September 1985, 2nd September 1986, and 15th September 1987 respectively. All of these unusual denominations are very hard to find with a Perfin, with two of them currently without a single Perfin to their name!

1988 saw the introduction of the popular Castles - with the Queen's head shown in detail - with a set of four issued on the 18th October 1988 - £1, £1.50, £2, and £5. These are also somewhat scarce with a Perfin, particularly the higher values!

With the introduction of elliptical cut holes on postage stamps in the early 1990's, the four Castles were treated to a re-vamp. Along with the elliptical cut holes, came a design change whereby the Queen's head appeared as a silhouette in gold. The original four values were introduced on 24th March 1992, with a fifth value, the £3, introduced 22nd August 1995. Only the £1 value has been reported with Perfins. Note - these are not classed as Machins!

Note - No attempt has been made at this stage to distinguish between the Harrison (1992) and Enschedé (1997) printings.

The only appearance of a £10 postage stamp in the United Kingdom came on 2nd March 1993 with the issue of the £10 'Britannia' on granite paper. An impressive, but impractical issue. Unusually, two elliptical cuts appear at the top and bottom of each stamp. Predictably, none have been recorded with a Perfin!

A replacement for the last, large format £1 stamp (Carrickfergus Castle), printed by Harrisons (SG1611), was the small sized £1 Bluish-violet issued on the 22nd August 1995.

Replacements for the Enschedé printings of the four remaining large format Castles - £1.50, £2, £3, and £5 - issued on 29th July 1997 - came in the form of the small sized £1.50 Red, £2 Dull blue, £3 Dull violet, and £5 Brown. All four of which were issued 9th March 1999.

And so ends the large format, high value era which lasted for more than 130 years!

All five are shown here for reference.

Queen Elizabeth II - Small Sized Decimal Machins with Elliptical Cuts.

For security reasons, starting with the 6p Yellow-olive introduced on the 27th April 1993, Machin definitive stamps began to appear with elliptical perforations towards the bottom on both sides of the stamp.

Also introduced in 1993 (on 6th April) was the 'No value indicated' (NVI) designs for 1st and 2nd Class Mail, as well as 'E' for the European rate. A selection of these is illustrated after the 'value stated' stamps.

Introductory dates for the basic stamps are shown above each illustration. Note that no account has been taken of the number of phosphor bands, only the major colour changes, producing a gallery of 91 stamps. A list of the values and stamp colours is provided at the end for reference.

The number of different Perfin dies recorded for each type is shown to the right of the stamp designation code (e.g. 1, 2a, 4b, etc) allocated by Barrie Williamson. For details of the various Perfin dies involved see Barrie's list of QEII Machins on the Perfin Society Website.

Note - New definitive stamps issued after 2010 have not been included.

A glance at the figures shows that the 25p Rose-red Decimal Machin has the greatest number of different Perfin dies associated with it at 87. At the other end of the scale, most values have less than five Perfin dies to their name, and there are thirty-one with none at all!

The figures for the number of G.B. Perfin dies found on the small format Decimal Machin issue is correct to 1st July 2019.

Although 819 DDF Perfins have been reported on the definitive sized Machins with elliptical cuts, a good many of them, particularly post 2000, are from 'private' dies. As a result I've taken the opportunity to list the Perfin Society Catalogue numbers involved to help separate the 'private' use from the 'commercial' use. Dies marked in green are known to be from 'private' dies (i.e. used in a non-commercial context).

MACHIN ELLIPTICAL CUTS - COLOURS CHECKLIST

with Catalogue Nos from SG Concise (pre May 2013).

Note!

The following codes have been allocated by Barrie Williamson in his Machin study for the small format, decimal definitives. No account has been taken of the various phosphor bands involved, differences in paper, and printers. Only the major colour changes have been taken into account. The code is produced by dropping the 'p' from the value for the original issue, followed by the suffix 'a' for the first variation, and 'b' for the second, and so on.

The Royal Mail 'Price in Proportion' postal price structure came into effect in the UK on the 21st August 2006 in an attempt to reflect the actual cost of postage. The price is based on the size of the item as well as weight. The system has three bands - Letter, Large Letter and Packet.

New 'Price in Proportion' (PiP for short) stamps were issued on 1st August 2006. New 1st and 2nd Class 'Large Letter' stamps were designed in a larger format along with the word 'Large' included in the design, together with redesigned 1st and 2nd Class definitives for standard letters showing a new larger service indicator. Self Adhesive versions of the four stamps were introduced 15th August 2006 (Large), and 12th September 2006 (Small).

U-shaped security slits were added in 2009 to the self-adhesive stamps to help deter the re-use of stamps that have passed through the postal system without being franked. Only the large format stamps were involved. Originally the security slits were 'unbroken', but later 'broken' slits were used. Iridescent marking was also introduced with hidden source code letters and year dates. The printers involved are De La Rue & Co Ltd, and Walsall Security Printers Ltd.

The 2nd Large illustrated above shows the U-shaped security slits, two on each side of the stamp, along with the iridescent ROYAL MAIL wavy-lines overprint incorporating, in this example, the year code MAI0 for 2010 and source code MBI for Business sheet. The iridescent overprint on the 1st Large Diamond Jubilee stamp (issued was DIAMOND JUBILEE rather than ROYAL MAIL.

A hidden 'Source Code' Letter in the iridescent wavy-line 'ROYAL MAIL' text was introduced as a means of identifying the source of a stamp, in that a 'hidden' code letter was applied to printings that do NOT come from counter sheets. These hidden source code identification letters occur in just one position per stamp.

Source Code Letters used Booklets, Business Sheets, etc.

- B - Business Sheets - both standard size and Large NVI.
- C - Customised Booklets including Design Classics 1, Design Classics 2, etc.
- F - Standard Retail Booklets of four Large NVI.
- M - Minisheets.
- P - Stitched Prestige Booklet panes.
- R - Coils - From Self Adhesive Large User Rolls of 10,000 NVI, and normal gummed Vending Machine Rolls of 500 and 1,000 NVI.
- S - Standard Retail Booklets of Six NVI.
- T - Standard Retail Booklets of Twelve NVI.

Another 'hidden' code was introduced into the iridescent wavy-line text from 2010 and signified the year the warrant for printing the stamps was issued, which is not necessarily the year in which the stamps were printed or indeed issued.

Year Code Letter Substitution.

The sequence is somewhat complex, as the table below shows for the three years 2010-2012. Blue entries are from sheets and business sheets, those in italics are from booklets, although stamps from booklets are highly unlikely to have been commercially perfinned.

Regional Issues - Decimal.

The practice of issuing ‘Regional’ postage stamps in the UK started in the ‘Sterling’ era on the 18th August 1958 with the issue of special stamps for sale in Northern Ireland, Scotland, Wales and Monmouthshire, Guernsey, Jersey, and the Isle of Man. However, by the time decimalization had been introduced on 15th February 1971, Guernsey and Jersey had already become independent postal administrations (1st October 1969) and were producing their own postage stamps. See Regional Issues (Sterling) for Perfin details, although the stamps involved (a mixture of Sterling and Decimal) are shown below.

Decimal regional stamps were issued by the GPO for the Isle of Man, but they also became an independent postal administration on 5th July 1973. Moreover, the ambiguity of Monmouthshire being regarded as part of England or Wales was resolved officially (legally) by the local government act of 1972, which came into effect on 1st April 1974, when it became part of Wales. A late-comer to the ‘Regional’ postage stamp party was England in April 2001.

No Perfins have yet been found on any of the four decimal regional stamps issued for the Isle of Man (typical example shown alongside). The remaining four ‘regions’, however, can be found with Perfins, although the number of different Perfin dies involved is very small and even then, only a small percentage of the issued stamps are known with Perfins.

As a general rule, only regional stamps known with Perfins have been illustrated.

Northern Ireland.

On decimalization, Northern Ireland's 'Sterling' regional issues were replaced by 'Decimal' Machins essentially in the mainland colour for that particular value, but with the inclusion in the top-left corner of a heraldic device representing Northern Ireland - the red hand in a star beneath a crown. This device, along with appropriate devices for Scotland, Wales, and the Isle of Man, were designed by Jeffery Matthews. The first four stamps were introduced on 7th July 1971.

There are exceedingly few Perfins known on Northern Ireland regionals, and of the five different Perfin dies known, four are 'Private' use. The exception is "NC" which almost certainly wasn't used in Northern Ireland. Nottingham Corporation, the user of that particular Perfin, must have obtained supplies of regional stamps (not only Northern Ireland, but Scotland, and Wales as well - see later) probably supplied by the GPO to help reduce stocks. Whatever the reason, examples may be found on six different Northern Ireland regional values, although none have yet been reported with either a date or legible postmark.

To date, only one Perfin has been reported on the later Northern Ireland regionals with elliptical cuts, the 'Private' Perfin "C/.." on a 25p Rose-red.

From 8th June 1999 new designs for Scottish regionals were introduced, with the Scottish Lion used for the 1st class stamp, a Scottish Flag for the 2nd class stamp, a Thistle for 'E' (rate to Europe), and Tartan for the 64p stamp. The Tartan stamp later came out with new values, 65p and 68p, as postal rates increased. All six stamps were in the 'no stamp border' format. Commencing 14th October 2003, stamps with white borders were introduced.

The ten so-called 'Bridport' series of numeral Perfins have not been included in the main list and quoted totals. At the moment these are regarded as 'suspicious'.

They can also be found in much smaller numbers on stamps dating back to 1901. Wildings (4), Scotland and Wales Regionals (2), KGVI Light colours (2), and a QV 1d Lilac (16 dots).

The following decimal Machins have been reported with numbers of the so-called ‘Bridport’ Series.

These were only discovered on QEII decimal Machins in 2005. At the time the only postmark clue was that of Bridport, hence the series name. Since then (Abi)ngdon, Blackp(ool), (E)nfield - Middx, Hampstead, and Wigan have been reported.
